ABOUT SEMINAR

If we look at the conventional time in 60's-70's we would notice that education was not that competent at that time. Even 60%-70% was enough for a student. Student was taught one particular subject of his on her own choice. There was no race and no competition. So people easily followed their passion and gave their best but today there is a cut throat competition among all the student, and in all the fields from academics to curricular activity from sports to debate. Today the scenario has changed so drastically, that person is made jack of all trade but master of none. He is taught all the subject irrespective of his interest.

The purpose of education is to fill an empty mind with an open mind not to just fill it with stress, tension, frustration and pressure. So to make each and every aspect of learning, a happy and joyful learning we have to be self competent enough, to meet all the required and desired necessities.

"Formal education just makes a living but self education makes fortune"
